

Equinefit Jumping and Dressage Saddles

Equinefit saddles are individually designed and made specifically for each horse and rider combination, taking into account the support, depth, shape, and materials chosen by the customer.

“From my 20 years experience of working with different breeds and levels of horses and types of riders, I designed and launched a range of saddles that would allow them to enjoy maximum comfort and optimum performance.” Says Rene de Koning, founder of Equinefit.

“I invite you to discover the true potential of your horse.”

Your saddle - Your choice

Every design starts with a free consultation to understand your needs and to evaluate you and your horse first hand. The final design will be unique – a custom saddle that will offer the best solution for you and the best fit to your horse. Our saddles are competitively priced when compared with off-the-shelf saddles and offer all the advantages of being made to your exact requirements. Included in our price is your hand-made saddle, the initial consultation and measuring at your barn, and final fitting and adjustment.

Because we have almost no limits in size, shape, or color, almost any combination can be created. Once you have chosen which options suit your requirements, we then design a custom saddle that combines all of your needs and specifications, which means that no two Equinefit saddles are alike.
